

The Berbers established a new City MARRAKESH after invading Morocco in 1054

By 1069 they had overrun the whole of Morocco and within a few yrs had wrested the entire MAGHARIB (Supra-Saharan Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria) from FATIMID control. Their empire lasted until 1147 when the head of the ALMOHADS, a rival tribe which rose to prominence in reaction to Almoravid rule, was installed in Marrakesh as the lord of all Morocco, with title of Caliph.
